

Lucy Bingo

Mark statements you think are true with an 'O' and those you think are false with an 'X.'

Four correct choices in a row ('O' or 'X') is a bingo!

|                                                                                                                  |                                                                                                                                                        |                                                                                                                                                                  |                                                                                                                                       |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| a Lucy was named for the famous Beatles song, "Lucy in the Sky with Diamonds." _____ | b Lucy's species was Australopithecus afarensis, an early hominid (the "great apes"). _____                                | c Lucy lived over 3 million years ago. _____                                                                                         | d Lucy was a member of the species Homo sapiens, which is what modern humans are. _____                   |
| e When scientists discovered Lucy, it helped them understand human evolution. _____  | f Lucy was not a member of the species Homo sapiens, which is what modern humans are. _____                         | g Lucy and her species walked on all fours; only much later species could walk upright. _____                                        | h Scientific tests show that Lucy lived to an old age of more than 70. _____                              |
| i Lucy was about 3.5 feet tall and 64 pounds. _____                                  | j Lucy's species spent their time on the ground; only earlier species could climb trees. _____                             | k When Lucy died, she was about 11 or 12 years old. _____                                                                            | l Lucy was considered an adult when she died, because she had fully formed adult wisdom teeth. _____      |
| m Surprisingly, the size of Lucy's brain was similar to that of modern humans. _____ | n Other hominids ("great apes") may have existed millions of years ago but, like Lucy, their species became extinct. _____ | o Scientists have learned through the discovery of Lucy, that there may have been many different human-like species before us. _____ | p Several human species have evolved on Earth, but only Homo sapiens (modern humans) have survived. _____ |